MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance is poised to enter its 14th year with its largest group of accredited organizations to date – 86 nonprofit organizations across North America with a network of over 180 facilities and countless volunteers, who work tirelessly to retire, rehab, retrain and provide second careers for over 4,000 Thoroughbred racehorses annually.

On a daily basis, these organizations answer the question: What happens to racehorses when they are no longer fit or able to race? Proving the versatility of the Thoroughbred, their programs span from adoption programs where sport horse trainers are looking for their next competitive partner for eventing, jumping, dressage, or polo and other individuals are searching for a working mount for ranch work or a pleasure mount for field hunting and trail riding; to equine-assisted service programs where Thoroughbreds have been excelling in work with combat veterans, abuse survivors, those in substance abuse recovery, inmates, and clients with physical disabilities or mental challenges; to retirement programs where Thoroughbreds who gave their all on the track can now retire in comfort while educating the public about the breed and the sport of horse racing.

Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance was founded in 2012 as the bridge and safety net for the racing industry's Thoroughbreds, and today it is the racing industry's central source of accrediting and funding Thoroughbred aftercare organizations.

But as Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance was created by the racing industry, it remains dependent on the racing industry for needed funding that enables the accreditation process and oversight of aftercare organizations and the grants for the direct care of the off-track Thoroughbreds to continue into the future.

We remain thankful to stakeholders in the industry that have provided funding for this crucial mission of Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance. A full list of supporters is available in this report and we are grateful for every contribution. We also thank our board members, staff, and network of volunteers for their passion and dedication to this essential mission.

This may be our biggest year yet, but there are many more Thoroughbreds in need of support each year, and it will continue to take a unified effort from industry stakeholders across the nation to grow the safety net offered by accredited aftercare. Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance is ready to lead aftercare into the future. Thank you for your continued support of Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance and retired Thoroughbreds.

Walt Robertson, Jr.
President, Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance
